

Super Rod has again, listened to their customers and adapted part of their award winning system to come up with another great product.

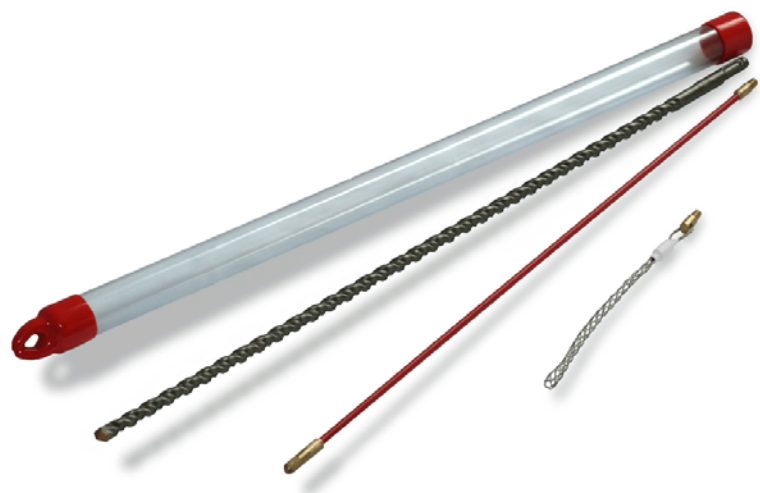

Addressing the age old issue of how to route cable through a wall and across a cavity with no fuss, an everyday task for Super Rod products, installers requested a shorter length rod, along with the Super Gripand drill bit, all in one kit.

The team at Super Rod then got together with Bosch, one of the world's leading manufacturers of drill bits, to put together a combination set offering fast installation, easy to use tools and the robustness coupled with the longevity we have come to expect from Super Rod tools.

Commenting on the development, Malcolm Duncan the Managing Director of Super Rod stated. "The kit was simple to create, it was just a matter of collating some of our existing kit into one place, one area we were not prepared to compromise was with the quality of the drill bit, that is why we went to Bosch."

For a view of the kit in action, just Click Here, while you are there why not register and try to win one of the stylish Super Rod jackets being given away this month.

Click on the image to go to the product detail page.

Available at stockists nationwide now!